

Tempurung Cave

Concealed within this limestone mass is an intricate system of cave of various dimensions honeycombed inside the limestone hills. These caves are actually a breathtaking gallery of stalagmites and stalactites and other amazing rock formations which are superb speleological wonders found only in this part of the world. Gua Tempurung is the main attraction here. The cave meanders under the limestone hill and forms a tunnel of wondrous and endless rock formations that run east to west, nearly 1.9km in length. Walking and platforms have been built within some parts of the caves making an excursion into these caves a breeze. Normal white light is used so that the original and pure state of the exhibits are retained. Visitors are now able to appreciate these wonders of nature in a comfortable yet unobtrusive environment.
